

May I know why in the back-end after I clicked SAVE in the below page, the GREEN notification auto-close by itself?

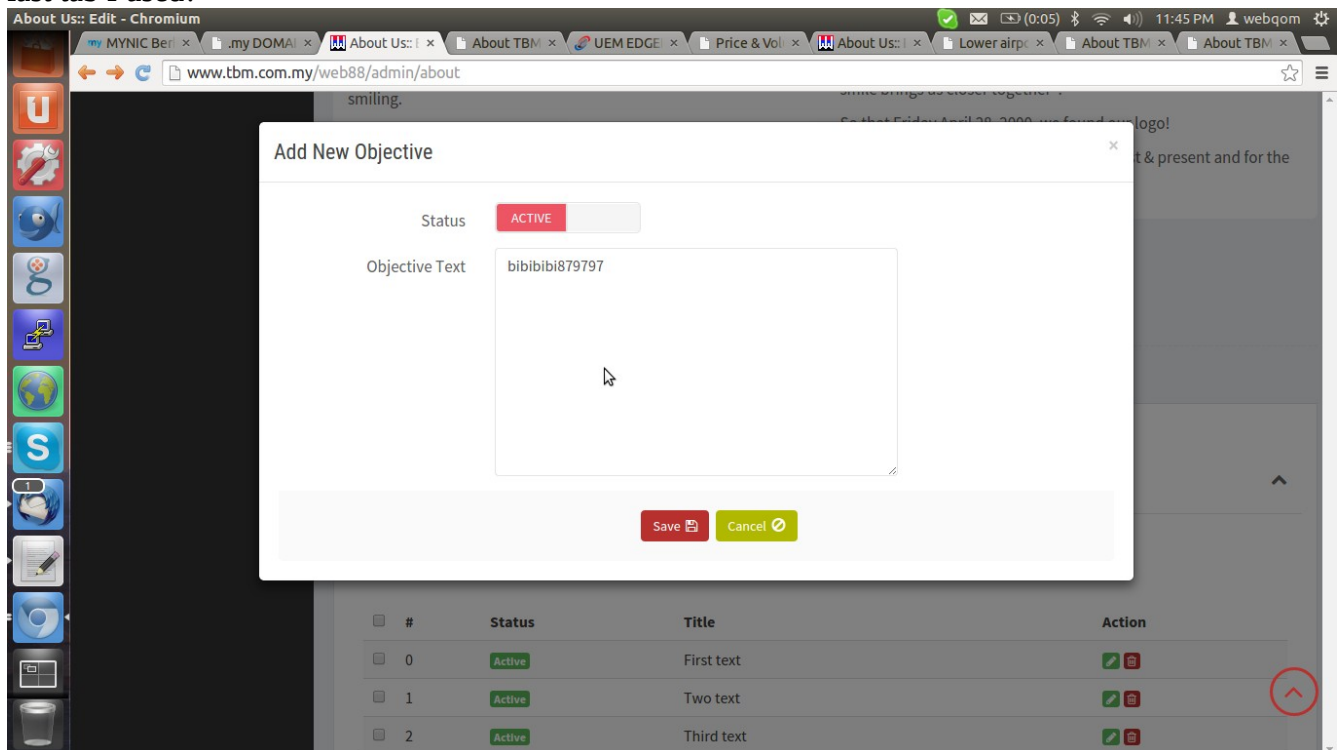

the GREEN notification auto-close by itself...

After saving, the page shall move to the top where the notification is showing. But in your case after save, the user needs to scroll up to see it. And in your case, the user will not know if saving is working because notification is not showing in the display area without scrolling.

May I know why in the back-end after I clicked SAVE in the below page, the TAB is not display the last tab I used?

The tab I used in below is "objective text" tab, but after saving it as per above, it shows "background image" tab. By right it shall show the tab it last used.
